

CONTENTS

	Foreword	v
	Acknowledgements	vii
	Contents	ix
	Abbreviations	xvi
CHAPTER I	Introduction
1	A meeting of two disciplines	3
2	Approach and structure of the book	5
3	European administrative law: some key concepts	6
4	Sources of Community law	9
5	Implementation of Community law in the national legal systems	13
6	The paradox of institutional autonomy	18
7	Legality in an integrated legal order and the powers of national administrative authorities	23
8	Mixed administration	29
9	Conclusion	32
CHAPTER II	Europeanisation of National Administrative Law
1	Leading principles	35
2	Constraints on national administrative law: the requirements of equivalence and effectiveness	40
3	The principle of effective judicial protection	49
4	Equivalence and effectiveness, or effective judicial protection?	54
5	The trends in perspective	57
CHAPTER III	Direct Effect
1	Introduction	63
2	Direct effect	63
2.1	The conditions for direct effect	63
2.2	Limits to discretion	68
2.3	The negative obligation stated in Inter-Environnement	72
2.4	Who is required to apply directly effective Community law?	73
2.5	Who can rely on directly effective provisions?	76
2.6	Horizontal side effects	78
2.7	Inverse direct effect	83
2.8	Legal consequences of direct effect	84
2.8.1	General	84
2.9	Some specific problems	88
2.9.1	Direct effect where implementation has been full and proper?	88
2.9.2	Can the national court force the legislature to act?	89

2.9.3	How do national courts review decisions in the light of Community law?	90
2.9.4	Direct effect and national procedural law	95
CHAPTER IV Consistent Interpretation
I	General remarks	99
2	Judicial interpretation	101
3	The position of the national courts	103
4	Consistent interpretation and legal certainty	105
5	Priority for consistent interpretation?	106
6	Consistent interpretation and obligations for individuals	108
7	Consistent interpretation by administrative authorities?	111
CHAPTER V General Principles of Law
I	Introduction	115
2	Common aspects	116
2.1	Origin of the principles	116
2.2	Types of principle	118
2.3	Fundamental rights as general principles of Community law	119
2.4	Functions and scope of the principles	122
2.5	Operation of the principles in the Member States	124
3	Equality	125
3.1	Introduction	125
3.2	Unwritten principle of equality and written non-discrimination provisions	126
3.3	What is prohibited?	129
3.4	Types of discrimination	132
3.5	Justifications	135
3.6	Intensity of review	137
3.7	Consequences of infringement of the principle of equality	139
3.8	The significance of the Community principle of equality for domestic law	140
4	Proportionality	142
4.1	General remarks	142
4.2	The proportionality principle in Community law	146
4.2.1	The substance of the Community proportionality principle	148
4.2.2	Proportionality in the review of Community legislation	150
4.2.3	Proportionality and free movement	151
4.2.4	Proportionality and Community sanctions	160
4.3	Proportionality and the role of national courts	162
5	Legitimate expectations	163
5.1	Introduction	163
5.2	Substance of legitimate expectations in Community law	165
5.3	Application of the principle in Member States	171
5.3.1	Introduction	171

CONTENTS

5.3.2	Application of a codified version of the principle in the Member States	172
5.3.3	Limits to the application of a national principle of legitimate expectations	175
5.3.4	Impact of the unwritten European principle of legitimate expectations in the Member States	184
5.4	Conclusion	186
6	Rights of defence	187
6.1	Introduction	187
6.2	The rights of defence in the case law of the Court of Justice	188
6.3	The influence of the European rights of defence and national administrative law upon each other	193
CHAPTER VI	Administrative Enforcement
I	Introductory remarks	199
I.1	The European enforcement deficit	199
I.2	European influence on national enforcement of Community law	201
2	Enforcement of Community law in the Member States	202
2.1	Administrative enforcement	202
2.2	Criminal enforcement	203
2.3	Private enforcement	205
3	Judge-made rules for national enforcement of Community law	206
3.1	Introduction	206
3.2	Instrumental requirements	206
3.2.1	General	206
3.2.2	Equivalence (non-discrimination)	209
3.2.3	Effective and dissuasive	212
3.3	Protective requirements	213
3.3.1	Introduction	213
3.3.2	Fundamental rights	214
3.3.3	General principles of law	217
3.3.4	Treaty freedoms	219
3.4	Conclusions	220
4	Community legislative influence on compliance control within the Member States	220
4.1	Introduction	220
4.2	Harmonisation of national monitoring activities	221
4.3	Harmonisation of national control activities with a view to transnational enforcement cooperation	222
4.4	Independent powers of inspection of the Commission in the Member States	225
4.5	Value of transnational evidence	228
4.6	Conclusions	230

5	Community legislative influence on imposition of sanctions in Member States	231
5.1	Introduction	231
5.2	The process of Europeanisation of national administrative sanctions	232
5.3	Criminal sanctions under the First Pillar	235
5.4	Conclusions	238
CHAPTER VII
	Judicial Protection
I	Introduction	241
I.1	Effective judicial protection in a shared and integrated legal order	241
I.2	The Court of Justice and the Court of First Instance	242
2	Division of responsibilities between the Court of Justice and the national courts	245
2.1	The general picture	245
2.2	The action for annulment	247
2.2.1	General	247
2.2.2	The application for interim measures	248
2.2.3	The limited right of action of individuals	249
2.3	The action for failure to act	253
2.4	Interference with the national judicial process	254
2.5	Non-contractual liability of the Community	256
2.6	Conclusion	259
3	Cooperation between the national courts and the Community institutions	260
3.1	Introduction: the principle of loyal cooperation	260
3.2	The reference for a preliminary ruling	263
3.2.1	General	263
3.2.2	Power or duty to refer	265
3.2.3	Procedural aspects	268
3.2.4	Remedies for wrongful judicial decisions	271
3.3	The role of national courts in interim relief proceedings	275
3.3.1	Interim relief and questions of interpretation	275
3.3.2	Interim relief and questions of validity	277
4	European influence on national judicial protection and procedural law	286
4.1	Introduction	286
4.2	Access to the court	288
4.3	Time limits	294
4.3.1	Introduction	294
4.3.2	Reasonable time limits are permitted	294
4.3.3	The rise and fall of Emmott	296
4.4	Rules of evidence	301

4.5	Ex officio application of European law	308
5	Conclusion	316
CHAPTER VIII	State Liability
1	Introduction	321
2	The genesis of Francovich liability	323
2.1	The first step: Francovich and state liability as a matter of principle	323
2.2	The second step: Brasserie du Pêcheur and Factortame	326
2.3	Towards a general theory of liability: Dillenkofer	330
2.4	The conditions for liability	331
2.4.1	A 'sufficiently serious' breach	331
2.4.2	Rights for individuals	336
2.4.3	A causal link	344
2.5	Which organs of the state may give rise to liability?	347
2.5.1	The legislature	348
2.5.2	The executive	349
2.5.3	The judiciary	349
2.5.4	Subnational authorities	351
2.6	Other relevant aspects	355
2.6.1	Obligation to mitigate the loss	355
2.6.2	The role of national law and the national courts	357
3	Conclusion	361
CHAPTER IX	Conclusion
1	Influence from the top down and the bottom up	365
2	Implications for national administrative law	366
3	Towards an administrative law jus commune ?	369
	Bibliography	374
	Table of Cases	396
	Index	416